At 6 p.m. immediately following the Pride flag-raising ceremony, Pride Celebration will take place at the Easton Public Library where there will be live music, good food and a caring community. Bring your picnic blanket and set yourself up on the library lawn. There will be live music from the band uncis with a guest appearance by Florisca Carter, and a food truck from Walrus Alley.

Weather permitting, there will also be an ice cream truck, plenty of crafts for the kids, lawn games, and Easton Pride swag. In addition, there will be tables with resources and information available from Triangle Community Center, Easton's Here to Help, the Center for Family Justice, and the Easton Library, and more.

All are welcome.
