Drug Charge

Police on July 9 charged Andrzej Przybyszewski, 35, of Ridge Lane in Shelton with possession of a controlled substance and drug paraphernalia. Przybyszewski was involved in an earlier incident that required the Easton Police Department to seize his possessions for safe keeping.

While inventorying his backpack a syringe and a folded piece of paper with white substance inside was found. The white substance was subsequently tested and identified as fentanyl, police said.

Przybyszewski was given a misdemeanor summons and released on a promise to appear in court on July 23.

Sexual Assault

As previously reported in the Easton Courier, Active Investigation Probes Sexual Abuse Charges, the Easton Police Department on July 1 received a call from Yale-New Haven Hospital, reporting they had admitted two victims who evidenced signs of sexual abuse and trauma. Officers were sent to the scene to begin an investigation, leading to charges of sexual assault in the first degree, two counts; illegal sexual contact, two counts, and risk of injury to a minor against an Easton man.

These are allegations. All suspects are innocent until proven guilty.
